INDIANS DROP CRUCIAL CONTEST TO SPIDERS

The Endowment Campaign

Drive Now Assuming Definite Proportions as Plans Get Under Way.

Plans for the endowment campaign which were tentatively drafted last spring and which matured and extended during the summer are now in the first stages of execution. It is a matter of common knowledge to all those in any way connected with the institution that a campaign is now being conducted to raise $1,440,000 as an endowment for the college. Literature of all sorts has been printed and scattered throughout the country by the committee in charge of the campaign, which committee is headed by Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

At an alumni meeting held at the college last Finals it was decided that $20,000 would be necessary to cover the expenses of the campaign, and that it would be the task of those alumni present to raise that amount. It is significant that this amount was oversubscribed within three weeks.

The senior class of last year realized that it was their duty to do something to forward this cause, and to this end each member of the class took out a policy for $250, payable to the college at the end of the ten-year period. Thus, at the end of ten years the class contribution, amounting to approximately $5,000, will be paid to the treasurer. It is hoped that each succeeding Senior Class will follow in their footsteps, so that a like amount will find its way into the treasury each year.

Subscription cards have been issued to each member of the student body and each alumnus whom it was possible to reach, with the request that no card be returned without a promise of some amount, no matter how small that amount might be. All right, fellow-students, William and Mary boasts of her college spirit—here's your chance to show it!

The actual work of the campaign is yet in the future, however. A short step toward accomplishing some of it was made last week when Dr. Chandler attended an enthusiastic meeting of the William and Mary alumni in New York City. At this meeting alone over $11,000 was subscribed. Dr. Chandler has been relieved of his duties on the campus for the next few months and is devoting his whole time to work of this nature.

William and Mary, with its position in the history of the United States, the Alma Mater of some of the greatest statesmen of the country, has claims upon the generosity of the American public which can be presented by no other college or university in the country. The Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha chapter was founded at William and Mary, intends to show its appreciation by the gift of a $100,000 memorial auditorium to be dedicated to the founders of the fraternity.

Honor Prominent Briton

Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa to Initiate Sir Auckland Geddes.

Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, will be one of the initiates and the orator at the annual celebration of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, which will be held at the College of William and Mary on December 4, according to announcement made here today. The occasion will be the anniversary of the Alpha or "Mother" chapter of the society, founded here one hundred and forty-four years ago, from which has sprung the largest and most famous of all the Greek-letter fraternities in America.

The initiation of Sir Auckland will bring the number of prominent Britons initiated by the "Mother" chapter to fourteen. When America entered the World War a British commission consisting of thirteen men, led by Sir Arthur J. Balfour, visited Washington to urge this country to make haste in preparing for the combat across the seas. The society then allowed these British notables to be initiated by a committee from the chapter at William and Mary, and their names are now inscribed on her records.

Sir Auckland will be accompanied here by Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, physician to President Wilson, and chairman of the William and Mary Endowment Fund, which is working to raise $1,440,000 to maintain the teaching standards of the institution. Included in the endowment is a fund of $100,000 to be devoted to the erection of a Phi Beta Kappa Memorial auditorium, in honor of the founders of the Alpha chapter.

In addition to Sir Auckland, the honored key of the society will be conferred on a number of men who have achieved distinction in some field, and these will be announced later.

BUSINESS STUDENTS

Complimentary Edition of Interesting Pamphlet Now Available.

"The Growth of an Ideal," published by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, at Akron, Ohio, is an illustrated book of 68 pages describing the growth of the company. The volume also contains a good deal of information on the economy of factory and branch organization and management. A complimentary edition, which should be of interest to students of economics and business, has been issued.

You Don't Say!

"Bill talks too much about himself." "He claims that that is the way to make other people talk about you." "Yes, but they won't say the same things that you do."—Boston Transcript.

This Is For You!

A Few Facts About the Condition of Your Paper.

Due to boycott of advertising in college papers by the merchants of the cities from which THE FLAT HAT has heretofore secured most of its advertising, and incidentally its capital, it is more than necessary that those students who have not subscribed to the paper do so at once.

Out of a student body of over four hundred and fifty, only two hundred have had enough college spirit and desire for the college news to subscribe to THE FLAT HAT. That's fine spirit for an institution whose students have always been noted for their college enthusiasm and "pep"!

If you're—and we are talking to those who haven't subscribed—"looking for a bargain," then a subscription to THE FLAT HAT is the very thing. Only $1.50, which is anywhere from four bits to a dollar cheaper than any other school paper the size of THE FLAT HAT in the State. And it carries equally as much news.

Or maybe you want something "to remember the year by"; or "to send home" to the "folks"? If that's the case, then what can be more acceptable than THE FLAT HAT?

Perhaps you haven't subscribed because you "keep up with everything" that goes on in college. If that's the case, then please drop in some items to the staff. There's a lot about "what's going on" that they would like to know.

Again, your "roommate gets it," and you read his, or THE FLAT HAT isn't "as good as you think it should be." To the first, we would like to ask: Why not let your "roomie" buy your books, clothes, pictures, and what not? And to the latter, if it isn't as good as you think it should be, then please, will you not come around and help us make it better? We're doing the best we can.

If you "can't afford to subscribe," well and good. But think and see if there isn't some little thing you can do without for the time being and buy the paper for a year.

Finally, we come to those "who don't care to subscribe." And but for fear of burning up this Underwood, we would write a few sentences without any asbestos linings.

When this college began to grow, everything around the campus tried to keep pace with it. The staff figured that with a larger student body, the paper should be enlarged and THE FLAT HAT was doubled in size—but the subscription lists didn't double! This week the paper has been cut down. Why? Because there are in the school some two hundred odd students who haven't enough interest, spirit, "pep," or whatever you call it, to help the paper along with their subscription. And yet they talk of the

INABILITY TO GAIN IN PINCHES SPELLS DOWNFALL FOR WILLIAM AND MARY—OUTPLAY RICHMOND IN STRAIGHT FOOTBALL.

William and Mary's fighting football eleven, failing to show the teamwork, especially the aerial attack, that characterized three previous starts, was defeated by the University of Richmond in Norfolk October 30. The score was 13 to 0.

From a standpoint of straight football, William and Mary showed to better advantage than the victors. Where the Spiders made only six first downs, the Indians on eleven occasions smashed through Coach Dobson's machine for first downs. The Indians were outplayed, however, and lost ground on several exchanges of kicks. This fact, coupled with fumbles by our eleven, and the infliction of penalties for being offside, showed up the Indians' attack whenever they seriously threatened Richmond's goal line.

Richmond Profits By Breaks.

The manner of the scoring indicates that the Spiders took advantage of the "breaks" coming their way. The first touchdown resulted when a kick by Captain Close, standing behind his own line, was blocked by Carter, Richmond's star tackle. Carter was quick to pounce on the pigskin. Some said the Spiders were lucky. Others held that it was good football for Carter to break through the line and smear the play. Where "luck" favored the capital city eleven was the uncanny course taken by the ball after it left Broadus' toe. The pigskin bounded near the right line, and White played it to go over the goal line. Instead, the ball stopped near our five-yard line, and White was downed before he could run the ball back any considerable distance.

Some Luck Here!

If doubt existed as to the Spiders' "luck" in making their first touchdown there was none of the uncertain element about the final score. On a fourth down, with the Spiders fifteen yards from our goal, as a result of an intercepted pass, Broadus dashed toward the Indians' chalk line to receive a pass from Towill. He was nowhere near the ball when White and Jones both hit the ball in its flight. It was here that Fate, or Kismet, as the Turk would say, dealt most unkindly with William and Mary's team. Ordinarily, the feat of two players touching a ball in the air will prevent the successful completion of a forward pass; but in this particular instance the aid rendered by White and Jones served to deflect the pigskin into Broadus' arms. He was the most surprised man on the gridiron. A mighty shout rent the air, but it was not voiced in appreciation of any sign.

BASEBALL PROGRESS

Games Arranged and Those Pending Guarantee Indians Strong Schedule.

Negotiations for a Northern baseball trip are in progress, and the next fortnight may bring developments of a definite character.

University of Virginia has given William and Mary April 13, tentatively. The baseball manager has closed with University of Pennsylvania for April 15, and Lehigh University for April 16. Other games are pending.

The local schedule should provide baseball lovers with several high-class games. Holy Cross College, of Worcester, Mass., opens the season with the Indians on Cary Field on March 22. While this is rather early, the Indians, favored by a warmer climate, probably will be in better shape than the Bay State outfit. Incidentally, Holy Cross always turns out a formidable diamond aggregation. Brown University, of Providence, R. I., has been offered March 26, and it is likely they will accept this date.

The Indians shall have another strong team. This fact is assured through the return of several letter men, and the promising material among the freshman class.

NEWSY NOTES

It surely was a pleasure to see the number of students at the Norfolk game, it was estimated that over two hundred made the trip with the team.

Attendance at scrimmage Wednesday afternoon was an improvement, too. About a hundred spectators watched the 'varsity run up a good score against the scrubs.

Saturday we have a little argument with N. C. State. Until Saturday State was a contender for the South Atlantic honors, but her chances vanished before the attack of the "Flying Squadron" of the Cadets. The Indians are alive and kicking, and though outweighed several pounds to the man will prove a hard nut for the Tarheels to crack.

No alibis for the Richmond game. The Spiders got most of the "breaks" and took advantage of them. We still believe we have the better team, but we lost our chance to prove it.

ORDER YOUR ECHO!

Manager Duke is very anxious to have all orders for Colonial Echo placed as soon as possible. See him and make the first deposit. In this way you will aid the managerial staff and save trouble in estimating the number of copies necessary.

H. M. Lewis, '20, has wandered off to the Capital City to try his luck in government work. Lewis, you have got the pep, go to it.

nal ability displayed by the Spiders. However, had the Indians benefited by a similar circumstance, partisans would have shouted gleefully. The fact remains that the University of Richmond was the recipient of this "break."

First Quarter.

Richmond received the kickoff, and failing to gain, punted. The Indians did likewise, and during the first ten minutes both teams resorted to kicking. The Indians fumbled on their twenty-yard line, and the Spiders gained fifteen yards, ten of which was netted on a double pass. On a fourth down Towill heaved the ball to Broadus, who stood back of our goal line. Broadus dropped the ball. This was one "break" that benefitted the Indians.

White Works Overtime.

Three times during the second quarter William and Mary plowed through the Spiders' defense and reached the thirty-yard line. Each time an off-side penalty or a fumble cost the Indians a splendid chance to score. During this battering process Fairmount White was called on nine successive times, and he alone made three first downs.

It was a case of working White overtime. The speedy halfback alarmed Richmond supporters every time he ran with the ball. But White could not win the battle alone. Jones, Joyner and Jordan rendered yeoman service on the defensive, but none save White could gain consistently through the Spiders' line.

Too Bad But True.

As has been stated, Richmond got the "breaks" and took advantage of them. On straight football the victors were outplayed by William and Mary. The local team showed great fighting spirit, every man doing his part. The 1920 game has been played; it behooves us to look forward to 1921.

The size of the crowd demonstrated the great interest in the Indians-Spiders scrap, and proved that Norfolk is eager to patronize high-class football. The game was a financial success for both schools.

The line-up and summary follows:

"Bake": How did that happen?

"Duc" Hicks: Don't know. Spontaneous combustion, I guess.

The question has been raised, "Was there a sober man in Norfolk Saturday night?"

Early Friday morning a notice appeared on the bulletin board that if a certain young man who was seen kissing a girl Thursday night did not pay up his subscription to THE FLAT HAT, his name would be published. During the day thirty-one subscriptions were paid.

CONCERNING THE LEAGUE

E. V. I. A. A. Seems to Be on the Point of Collapse.

The question is becoming a pertinent one in the minds of more people each day, particularly people interested in the welfare of William and Mary College. Is it consistent with our progressive policy to remain in the E. V. I. A. A. any longer? William and Mary is the traditional rival of the University of Richmond, and is not the continuation of that rivalry of more import to us than membership in the association?

According to the rules of the league, no member of the league shall continue athletic relations with a college which has withdrawn from the association. It is almost universally admitted that William and Mary, together with Richmond University, is rapidly outgrowing the other members of the association. Under these circumstances, what particular advantages does the league hold for us? It is, however, of prime importance to any institution to have one bitter rival toward a victory over whom all the season's efforts will be pointed. Richmond University has been our rival in the past and is still in that position, but this condition cannot continue to exist if we remain a member of the league.

Again, the regulation which still exists in regard to basketball and baseball—that we must play each member of the association twice during the season—considerably hampers our expanding athletic program. Such an arrangement forces us to cut from our schedule games with out-of-state teams which serve to advertise the college to a far greater extent than contests with Hampden-Sidney and Randolph-Macon.

THE FLAT HAT will be glad to receive and publish views of alumni on this subject.

BRITISH POSTERS

Now on Exhibition in Fine Arts Department.

Another installment of posters has been arranged in the fine arts department. These are composed of British shipping posters brought to this country by Prof. Power. While this particular part of the collection is not at all comparable with the posters from France, they are, nevertheless, of considerable interest.

"Duc": Why is the Statue of Liberty's hand only eleven inches long?

Bystander: Can't say. Why?

"Duc": Because if it were an inch longer it would be a foot.

A MATTER OF POLICY

It is the earnest wish of THE FLAT HAT staff to have the students understand the attitude with which articles are published in this paper.

It is neither the business or desire of those in charge of the paper to criticize or commend, except insofar as criticism or commendation expresses the sentiment of the majority. We deem it inadvisable to allow our own partialities or prejudices to enter into the spirit in which any article is published. The paper is for the student body, whose will is the will of the majority of the students, and, if an article having a critical trend is published, let the offended direct his bitterness, not against THE FLAT HAT, but at that element in his or her conduct which has caused public opinion to become adversely critical.

THE FLAT HAT itself is a strictly impartial organ, being merely a reflector, in which are reproduced the opinions and sentiments of the majority of the students. If we have published any article which any individual or group feel to be unjust, we are perfectly willing to allow that individual or group the privilege of a reply in these columns. We do ask, however, that the reply be addressed to the student body, whose opinion was expressed in the paper, and who is the party to be convinced, and not to those in charge of the paper. We feel no animosity towards any individual or group of individuals and criticize or commend only as criticism or commendation becomes the dominant factor in the attitude of the student body. We are merely your servants: all that appears in the paper is for the students, of the students and by the students.

COME OUT FOR DEBATING

This year with an increased interest in literary society work, we want to urge that every man in this college come out to compete for a place on our debating teams. We must have four teams if we are to meet the colleges that have challenged us for dual debates this year. Emory and Henry, Trinity and Lynchburg Colleges have asked that we meet their teams sometime during the year in debates. Are we going to meet them? If you will come out as a contestant, we can meet them, but if you leave it to about four debaters we cannot meet these teams.

We have only four men in college that were on the debating teams last year. These men must not be expected to do the literary work alone; you must help them! We debated but one college last year, and tied the count against our beloved Spider College. Let's untie the score this year by dealing them a deathly blow with our literary genius. We lost a good game in football to them, now let's win another contest that is just as great an honor as any football game that was ever staged. A man should have as much praise for debating a college and winning as the star football player.

Think this over and let's get busy to meet Trinity College in a few weeks. The schedule has not yet been arranged, but it will be announced within a few days. Give us a rally for our literary societies. We need the encouragement. Will you support us, or will you stand back and say, "I am not interested in these debates." Well, if we say those things, we are not lovers of our college. We are lowering the standards of literary work that we wish to maintain.

The following men have been elected to the Debate Council this year: Mr. C. S. Moorman, chairman; W. A. Dickinson, manager; Prof. R. K. Gooch and Dr. R. L. Morton as faculty representatives; J. B. Bentley, F. F. Chandler, and A. W. Johnson, as advisory committee.

EXCHANGES

Virginia Tech.

We note with interest that the Masons at V. P. I. have organized for the coming year. The organization of Masons was established at V. P. I. last year and was the second of its kind in the country, the first being at Washington and Lee University.

Martha Washington College.

Martha Washington and Emory and Henry Colleges have experienced a heavy loss through the resignation of Dr. Charles C. Weaver as president. Dr. Weaver is reassuming the duties of a pastor which were his before he accepted the presidency of the two colleges. We sympathize with those affected by the loss of such a president as Dr. Weaver's reputation proves he must have been.

University of Richmond.

University students turned out in full force on October 18 to pay respects to two members of the General Education Board, who were guests of the university at that time. The visitors were Dr. Wallace Buttrick and Mr. Samuel Flexner, president and secretary, respectively, of the board.

Tusculum College.

Tusculum College supporters are nearing the end of a half million dollar endowment drive. The raising of this sum was materially aided by gifts of the General Education Board and Mrs. Nettie McCormick, amounting to $150,000.

"Gone; no more this hallowed spot you tread, Unseen, but not forgotten."

W. H. Boyer, '20, is principle of the Scottsburg High School, Scottsburg, Va. Hurd was quite a student while in college and we believe success for him is assured.

V. F. Garrett, Jr., '20, is teaching at Big Stone Gap, Va. Petite Van was well known on the campus and ball field, but was better known among the ladies of Tyler Hall. Here's to you, Van. We predict a great future for you.

C. A. Joyce, '20, has wandered off to Washington and Lee to take up the study of law. Joyce proved his real worth as a student at W. & M. Now that he has branched off into a new field of study, we wish him the best of luck.

H. C. Smith, '20, is teaching at Gates City, Va. We don't know how "Smithie" got into the school business for he was planning to study medicine this year, but in any field of work we know success is his.

D. G. Tyler, Jr., '20, is teaching at Capron, Va. Judge was a man you could always depend on when the spirit of the student body was at stake. Go to it, Judge, we are expecting great things of you.

V. J. Love, '20, is teaching at Chuc-atuck, Va. Mike was a man we all liked, and in him we feel that we have lost a great friend as well as a strong supporter of our Alma Mater.

L. E. Bush, '20, is teaching at Big Stone Gap, Va. Bush while at college was a hard worker. Keep it up, old boy, and success will be yours.

Now we come to two of last year's seniors who have wandered off to some unknown land: W. W. Farmer and R. Sisson. Even though we do not know where these two young alumni are, our hearts are with them, and wishing them the best of success.

AT THE PALACE
WEEK OF NOV. 8 TO 13
MONDAY

Eugene O'Brien, star of many a romance, is the leading character in a photo-drama of politics—a Selznick Picture entitled "The Figurehead," at Palace Theater Monday.

He depicts the part of a wealthy, well-bred young idler who accepts a nomination for Mayor of his city as a lark, but goes into the campaign in earnest after being transformed by the fire of a great love. This does not please the bosses, as they had picked him as a "figurehead" candidate who would be easily defeated by the "machine" opponent, as arranged for in a secret deal between rival bosses.

TUESDAY

Robert Warwick in "An Adventure in Hearts."

James Cruze, who did "The Lottery Man" and "The Valley of the Giants," directed it. Anthony Hope, who wrote "The Prisoner of Zenda," wrote the story ("Captain Dieppe"); Elmer Harris, who adapted "It Pays to Advertise," is the scenarioist, and beautiful Helene Chadwick and Walter Long are in the cast.

WEDNESDAY

Constance Talmadge Enacts a Part Which in Real Life Caused Her to Quit Eating Rarebits Before Bedtime.

Constance Talmadge has a perfect horror of nightmares and consequently is very careful about eating such delectable and sleep-destroying things as Welsh rarebits before going to bed, but nevertheless she thought it was a great joke when she was called upon to enact a scene from one of her most dreaded dreams, that of finding herself walking around town not completely dressed.

THURSDAY

CODY SURROUNDED BY BEAUTIES IN PICTURE

Famous Artist's Model Gives Realistic Touch to Sensational Studio Scene.

Feminine loveliness in all its form marks the latest Lew Cody picture "Occasionally Yours," a Robertson-Cole super-special, which opens at the Palace Theater on Thursday. Leave it to the champion love-maker of the screen to surround himself with a bevy of beauties.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Roscoe Arbuckle, who has heretofore been identified with comedies, will come to the Palace Theater next Friday and Saturday in his first feature play, "The Round Up," a picture version of the play of the same name by Edmund Day. Patrons of the Palace will doubtless remember the offering when Macklin Arbuckle appeared in it. They will remember the characterization of fat "Slim" Hoover, the sheriff, whom nobody loves, and Fatty Arbuckle in the role is certain to afford the audience a rare treat.
